Honouring the house's history. Colour palette and tones (RIGHT) inspiration and heritage link sourced from paintings by John T Winson (1883-1918), artist grandson of Agnes Winson (1829-1895) who for many years lived in this house as farmer/butcher. Paintings in ownership of Winson descendant, with whom we share information about the house and history.

Additional palette reference includes muted-tone 'nod' to the Flag of Derbyshire

(Wikipedia) The flag features a green cross on a blue background. These colours were chosen to represent Derbyshire's green countryside and its rivers and reservoirs, respectively. In the centre of the flag is a Tudor rose, which has been the county badge since the 15th century.

Geometrical Design References (RIGHT) A hallmark of Georgian period interior and exterior design being order and balance. This approach further pays homage to the strong symmetry and proportion which characterises this mid-Georgian house front elevation (8 and 10 Tamworth Street) as a whole. Estimated build is between 1750 and 1780.

*This is a strong directional design for indicative purposes. Final commissioned version may be shared if requested.
