Heritage Statement

We are very fortunate to have been able to buy this beautiful, interesting house and garden in the heart of the World Heritage area of Belper.
We have been learning from the building itself, from neighbours and sources of historical information, details about people, the building, garden and location. We understand that the garden was once part of the kitchen gardens for the Strutt family occupying Green Hall. The end of the garden backs onto cottages that also have historical significance, as do other homes in the area, with neighbours who we will be also fortunate to share and value being in this remarkable heritage environment.

We are aware of the close proximity of religious buildings, including the now demolished Salem Chapel which was just across Green Lane. Also this area of Green Lane forms an important visual link to the clusters.

We have seen this property included in aerial photographs taken in the early 1960s and do not intend to alter the building's visual impact to any great degree.
