

the Architecture Centre
in the
East Midlands

Feedback received post event

Building in Context Community Event – 26th January 2012, Belper.

15 forms returned from c. 22 invited participants.

Scales
1:very poor	2:poor	3:average	4:good	5:very good
In overall terms, how would you rate the event? (1:very poor – 5:very good)
1	2	3	4	5
			8 responses	7 responses
Overall how did you rate the speaker presentations? (1:very poor – 5:very good)
1	2	3	4	5
			9 responses	6 responses
How effective did you find Heather Emery's role as a Design Enabler today? (1:very poor – 5:very good)
1	2	3	4	5
			9 responses	6 responses
Please rate the following: (1:very poor – 5:very good)
	1	2	3	4	5
Pre-event communication		1	1	8	5
Presentations				9	6
Workshops				7	8
Venue &amp; Catering				8	7

the
Architecture Centre
in the
East Midlands

Did you have adequate opportunity to participate and share information today?

yes	15 responses
no

Do you understand what happens next in the SPD process?

Yes	13 responses
no

What was particularly useful about today's event?

The Walk about.

Open discussion about site on site.

Understanding what the process is going to be and being allowed to be part of it.

Interaction of views from others attending.

Working on maps – rating and valuing from all aspects, then, joining another group only to find their ideas are similar to our group.

Meeting people involved in planning of the area.

Approach was interesting and helpful to get an overview.

Excellent all-round!

Good mix of ways of engaging (open air and desk based).

What was not particularly useful about today's event?

It would have been useful to hear feedback from other groups.

Didn't feel like we came to any actual conclusions.

It feels like it went a bit too quickly to get any definitive decisions. Interested to see how much we can effect change.

More questions following this.

AV situation regarding Tesco.

Not sure what ultimately happens and how much weight it will have.